The Employment Protection (Guernsey) Law, 1998

THE STATES, in pursuance of their Resolution of the 1st day of June, 1995^a, have approved the following provisions which, subject to the Sanction of Her Most Excellent Majesty in Council, shall have force of law in the Islands of Guernsey, Herm and Jethou.

PART I

MINIMUM PERIODS OF NOTICE & STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR DISMISSAL

Rights of employer and employee to minimum period of notice.

1. (1) The notice required to be given by an employer to an employee, or by an employee to an employer, to terminate the contract of employment of the employee shall be –

- (a) not less than one week's notice, where the employee has been continuously employed for a period of one month or more but less than two years,
- (b) not less than two weeks' notice, where the employee has been continuously employed for a period of two years or more but less than five years,

^a Article XIV of Billet d'État No. XI of 1995.

Consolidated text

- (c) not less than four weeks' notice, where the employee has been continuously employed for a period of five years or more.

(2) An employee's contract of employment, including any provision therein for shorter notice, shall have effect subject to subsection (1), but this section shall not be taken as preventing either party from –

- (a) waiving his right to notice on any occasion, or
- (b) accepting a payment in lieu of notice.

(3) Subsections (1) and (2) do not apply to a contract –

- (a) made in contemplation of the performance of a specific task which is not expected to last for more than three months, or
- (b) for a fixed term of three months or less, unless in either case the employee has been continuously employed for a period of more than three months.

(4) This section shall not affect the right of either party to treat the contract as terminable without notice by reason of such conduct by the other party as would have enabled him so to treat it before the commencement of this Law.

(5) A failure by an employer or employee to give the notice required by this section shall (subject to the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (2), and without prejudice to any other remedy of the parties) be deemed to be a breach of contract and actionable as such.

- (6) This section does not apply in relation to –
 - (a) employment during any period when the employee is engaged in work wholly or mainly outside Guernsey unless –
 - (i) the employee ordinarily works in Guernsey and the work outside Guernsey is for the same employer, or
 - (ii) the law which governs his contract of employment is the law of Guernsey,
 - (b) a person employed as a master of or seaman on a seagoing ship registered in the Bailiwick of Guernsey under the Merchant Shipping Act 1894^b having a gross registered tonnage of eighty tons or more, including a person ordinarily employed as a seaman who is employed in or about such a ship in port by the owner or charterer of the ship to do work of a kind ordinarily done by a seaman on such a ship when it is in port, or
 - (c) a person employed as a skipper of or seaman on a fishing boat for the time being registered in the ^b An Act of Parliament (1894 c. 60).

Bailiwick of Guernsey under Part IV of the Merchant Shipping Act 1894.

(7) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, a liquidator or provisional liquidator appointed by the Court under section 99 or 97 of the Companies (Guernsey) Law, 1994^c on the making of an order, or on the making of or pursuant to an application for an order, for the compulsory winding up of a company may treat any contract of employment to which the company is a party as terminable without any period of notice which would otherwise be required to be given by this section.

(8) The provisions of this section are without prejudice to any provision in a contract of employment requiring longer notice to be given.

Employment to which this Part of this Law applies.

4. (1) This Part of this Law applies to every employment other than –
- (a) employment where under his contract of employment the employee ordinarily works outside Guernsey,
 - (b) employment under a contract for a fixed term of [one year (or such other period as the States may by Ordinance specify)] or more, where the dismissal consists only of the expiry of that term without its being renewed, if before the term so expires the employee has agreed in writing (whether the agreement is contained in the contract itself or in a separate agreement) to exclude any claim in respect of rights under this Part of this Law in relation to that contract [(provided always that any agreement by an employee to exclude any such claim arising pursuant to section 15I(1) or (3) shall be void)], or

- (c) employment as the master or as a member of the crew of a fishing vessel where the employee is remunerated only by a share in the profits or gross earnings of the vessel.

- (a) the employment is wholly outside Guernsey, or
- (b) he is not ordinarily resident in Guernsey, be regarded as a person who under his contract of employment ordinarily works in Guernsey.

NOTES

In section 4,

the words in the first pair of square brackets in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) were substituted by the Employment Protection (Guernsey) (Amendment) Law, 2005, section 6, with effect from 1st March, 2006, subject to the savings in, first, section 24 of the 2005 Law and, second, section 9 of the Employment and Discrimination Tribunal (Guernsey) Ordinance, 2005;

the words in the second pair of square brackets in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) were inserted by the Employment Protection (Sunday Shop Working) (Guernsey) Law, 2001, section 2(2), with effect from 1st July, 2002.

In accordance with the provisions of the Merchant Shipping (Bailiwick of Guernsey) Law, 2002, section 296(3), Schedule 11, paragraph 1, the reference in subsection (2) of this section to "a ship registered in the Bailiwick of Guernsey under the Merchant Shipping Act 1894" shall be construed, unless the context otherwise requires, as, or as including, a reference to registration under Part II of the 2002 Law.

Meaning of "dismiss" and "dismissal".

5. (1) In this Law "dismiss" and "dismissal" shall be construed in accordance with the following provisions of this section.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), an employee shall be treated as dismissed by his employer if, but only if –

- (a) the contract under which he is employed by the employer is terminated by the employer, whether it is so terminated by notice or without notice,
- (b) where under that contract he is employed for a fixed term, that term expires without being renewed under the same contract, or
- (c) the employee terminates that contract, with or without notice, in circumstances such that he is entitled to terminate it without notice by reason of the employer's conduct.

(3) Where an employer gives notice to an employee to terminate his contract of employment and, at a time within the period of that notice, the employee gives notice to the employer to terminate the contract of employment on a date earlier than the date on which the employer's notice is due to expire, the employee shall for the purposes of this Part of this Law be taken to be dismissed by his employer, and the reason for the dismissal shall be taken to be the reasons for which the employer's notice is given.

- (4) In this Law "the effective date of termination" –
- (a) in relation to an employee whose contract of employment is terminated by notice, whether given by his employer or by the employee, means the date on which that notice expires,
 - (b) in relation to an employee whose contract of employment is terminated without notice, means the date on which the termination takes effect, and
 - (c) in relation to an employee who is employed under a contract for a fixed term, where that term expires without being renewed under the same contract, means the date on which that term expires.

(5) Where the contract of employment is terminated by the employer and the notice required by section 1 to be given by an employer would, if duly given on the material date, expire on a date later than the effective date of termination (as defined by subsection (4)) then, for the purposes of section 15(1), the later date shall be treated as the effective date of termination in relation to the dismissal.

(6) In subsection (5), "material date" means the date when notice of termination was given by the employer or (where no notice was given) the date when the contract of employment was terminated by the employer.

General provisions relating to fairness of dismissal.

6. (1) In determining for the purposes of this Part of this Law whether the dismissal of an employee was fair or unfair, it shall be for the employer to show –

- (a) what was the reason (or, if there was more than one, the principal reason) for the dismissal, and
- (b) that it was a reason falling within subsection (2).

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(b), a reason falling within this subsection is a reason which –

- (a) related to the capability or qualifications of the employee for performing work of the kind which he was employed by the employer to do,
- (b) related to the conduct of the employee,
- (c) was that the employee was redundant,
- (d) was that the employee could not continue to work in the position which he held without contravention (either on his part or on that of his employer) of a duty or restriction imposed by or under the law of Guernsey, or
- (e) was some other substantial reason of a kind such as to justify the dismissal of an employee holding the position which that employee held.

(3) Where the employer has fulfilled the requirements of subsection (1), then, subject to the provisions of sections 8 to 14 [and 15I], the determination of the question whether the dismissal was fair or unfair, having regard to the reason shown by the employer, shall depend on whether in the circumstances (including the size and administrative resources of the employer's undertaking) the employer acted reasonably or unreasonably in treating it as a sufficient reason for dismissing the employee; and that question shall be determined in accordance with equity and the substantial merits of the case.

NOTES

In section 6, the words in square brackets in subsection (3) were inserted by the Employment Protection (Sunday Shop Working) (Guernsey) Law, 2001, section 2(3), with effect from 1st July, 2002.

The following case has referred to section 6:

Burford v. Flybe Ltd (2009) (Unreported, Royal Court, 23rd June) (Guernsey Judgment No 29/2009).

 - (b) "qualifications" means any degree, diploma or other academic, technical or professional qualification relevant to the position which the employee held.

Dismissal relating to trade union membership or activities.

8. (1) The dismissal of an employee by an employer shall be regarded for the purposes of this Part of this Law as having been unfair if the reason for it (or, if more than one, the principal reason) was that the employee –

- (a) was, or proposed to become, a member of an independent trade union,
- (b) had taken part, or proposed to take part, in the activities of an independent trade union at an appropriate time, or
- (c) was not a member of any trade union, or of a particular trade union, or of one of a number of particular trade unions, or had refused or proposed to refuse to become or remain a member.

(2) In subsection (1)(b) "an appropriate time" means –

- (a) a time outside the employee's working hours, or
- (b) a time within his working hours at which, in accordance with arrangements agreed with or consent given by his employer, it is permissible for him to take part in the activities of a trade union, and for this purpose "working hours", in relation to an employee, means any time when, in accordance with his contract of employment, he is required to be at work.

(3) Where the reason, or one of the reasons, for the dismissal of an employee was –

- (a) his refusal, or proposed refusal, to comply with a requirement (whether or not imposed by his contract of employment or in writing) that, in the event of his not being a member of any trade union, or of a particular trade union, or of one of a number of particular trade unions, he must make one or more payments, or

- (b) his objection, or proposed objection, (however expressed) to the operation of a provision (whether or not forming part of his contract of employment or in writing) under which, in the event mentioned in paragraph (a), his employer is entitled to deduct one or more sums from the remuneration payable to him in respect of his employment, the reason shall be treated as falling within subsection (1)(c).

(4) In this section references to being, becoming or ceasing to remain a member of a trade union shall include references to being, becoming or ceasing to remain a member of a particular branch or section of that union or one of a number of particular branches or sections of that union, and references to taking part in the activities of a trade union shall be similarly construed.

Dismissal on ground of pregnancy.

9. The dismissal of an employee by an employer shall be regarded for the purposes of this Part of this Law as having been unfair if the reason for it (or, if more than one, the principal reason) –

- (a) was that the employee was pregnant, or
- (b) was any other reason connected with her pregnancy, except one of the following reasons –
 - (i) that at the effective date of termination she was or would have become, because of her pregnancy, incapable of adequately doing the work which she was employed to do,
 - (ii) that, because of her pregnancy, she could not do or would not have been able to continue after that date to do that work without contravention (either by her or her employer) of a duty or restriction imposed by or under the law of Guernsey.

[Dismissal on ground of sex or marital status.]

9A. The dismissal of an employee by an employer shall be regarded for the purposes of this Part of this Law as having been unfair if the dismissal constituted an act of discrimination against the employee prohibited by any provision of Part II of the Sex Discrimination (Employment) (Guernsey) Ordinance, 2005.]

NOTE

Section 9A was inserted by the Sex Discrimination (Employment) (Guernsey) Ordinance, 2005, section 70(1), with effect from 1st March, 2006.

Dismissal of replacement.

10. (1) Where an employer –

- (a) on engaging an employee informs the employee in writing that his employment will be terminated on the resumption of work by another employee who is, or will be, absent wholly or partly because of pregnancy or childbirth, and
- (b) dismisses the first-mentioned employee in order to make it possible to give work to the other employee, then, for the purposes of section 6(1)(b), but without prejudice to the application of section 6(3), the dismissal shall be regarded as having been for a reason falling within section 6(2)(e).

(2) Where an employer –

- (a) on engaging an employee informs the employee in writing that his employment will be terminated at the end of a suspension on medical grounds of another employee, and
- (b) dismisses the first-mentioned employee in order to make it possible to allow the resumption of work by the other employee, then, for the purposes of section 6(1)(b), but without prejudice to the application of section 6(3), the dismissal shall be regarded as having been for a reason falling within section 6(2)(e).

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(a), a "suspension on medical grounds" occurs when an employee is suspended from work by his employer on medical grounds in consequence of –

- (a) any requirement imposed by or under any of the relevant statutory provisions within the meaning of section 35 of the Health and Safety at Work (General) (Guernsey) Ordinance, 1987^d, or
- (b) any recommendation in any provision of a code of practice issued or approved under section 13 of that Ordinance.

(4) For the purposes of this section an employee shall be regarded as suspended from work if, and so long as, he continues to be employed by his employer, but is not provided with work or does not perform the work he normally performed before the suspension.

Dismissal in health and safety cases.

11. (1) The dismissal of an employee by an employer shall be regarded for the purposes of this Part of this Law as having been unfair if the reason for it (or, if more than one, the principal reason) was that the employee –

- (a) having been designated by the employer to carry out activities in connection with preventing or reducing risks to health and safety at work, carried out, or proposed to carry out, any such activities,

^d Recueil d'Ordonnances Tome XXIV, p. 162.

(3) Where the reason (or, if more than one, the principal reason) for the dismissal of an employee was that specified in subsection (1)(e), the dismissal shall not be regarded as having been unfair if the employer shows that it was, or would have been, so negligent for the employee to take the steps which he took, or proposed to take, that a reasonable employer might have dismissed him for taking, or proposing to take, them.

Dismissal on grounds of assertion of statutory right.

12. (1) The dismissal of an employee by an employer shall be regarded for the purpose of this Part of this Law as having been unfair if the reason for it (or, if more than one, the principal reason) was that the employee –

- (a) brought proceedings against the employer to enforce a right of his which is a relevant statutory right, or
- (b) alleged that the employer had infringed a right of his which is a relevant statutory right.

(2) It is immaterial for the purposes of subsection (1) whether the employee has the right or not and whether it has been infringed or not, but, for that subsection to apply, the claim to the right and that it has been infringed must be made in good faith.

(3) It shall be sufficient for subsection (1) to apply that the employee, without specifying the right, made it reasonably clear to the employer what the right claimed to have been infringed was.

(4) For the purposes of this section a "relevant statutory right" is any right conferred by or under –

- (a) this Law,
- (b) the Conditions of Employment (Guernsey) Law, 1985^e, or
- (c) the Industrial Disputes and Conditions of Employment (Guernsey) Law, 1993^f[, or Dismissal on ground of redundancy for inadmissible reasons.

13. (1) Where the reason or principal reason for the dismissal of an employee was that the employee was redundant, but it is shown –

- (a) that the circumstances constituting the redundancy applied equally to one or more other employees in the same undertaking who held positions similar to that held by the employee and who have not been dismissed by the employer, and
- (b) that the reason (or, if more than one, the principal reason) for which the employee was selected for dismissal was an inadmissible reason, then, for the purposes of this Part of this Law, the dismissal shall be regarded as unfair.

(2) For the purposes of this section "inadmissible", in relation to a reason, means that it is one of those specified in section 8(1), 9, 11(1) (read with section 11(2) and (3)) or 12(1) (read with section 12(2) and (3)) [or in section 6(1) of the Transfer of States Undertakings (Protection of Employment) (Guernsey) Law, 2001 (read with section 6(2) of that Law)] [or in section 15I(1) (as read with section 15I(2) or 15I(3) of this Law)].

[(2A) For the purposes of subsection (1)(b) the employee shall, in a redundancy case, be deemed to have been selected for dismissal for an inadmissible reason if his selection for dismissal constituted an act of discrimination against him prohibited by any provision of Part II of the Sex Discrimination (Employment) (Guernsey) Ordinance, 2005.]

(3) For the purposes of this Law a "redundancy case" means a case where the reason or principal reason for dismissal was that the employee was redundant and the equal application of the circumstances to non-dismissed employees described in subsection (1)(a) is also shown.

In determining, for the purposes of this Part of this Law, any question as to the reason, or principal reason, for which an employee was dismissed or any question whether the reason or principal reason for which an employee was dismissed was a reason fulfilling the requirements of section 6(1)(b) or whether the employer acted reasonably in treating it as a sufficient reason for dismissing him –

- (a) no account shall be taken of any pressure which, by calling, organising, procuring or financing a strike or other industrial action, or threatening to do so, was exercised on the employer to dismiss the employee, and

- (2) This subsection applies to a shop worker if –
- (a) on the day before the relevant date he was employed as a shop worker but not to work only on Sunday,
 - (b) he has been continuously employed during the period beginning with that day and ending with the day which, in relation to the provision concerned, is the appropriate date, and
 - (c) throughout that period, or throughout every part of it during which his relations with his employer were governed by a contract of employment, he was a shop worker.

(3) This subsection applies to a shop worker whose contract of employment is such that under it he –

- (b) could not be so required even if the provisions of this Part of this Law were disregarded.

(4) A shop worker is not a protected shop worker if –

- (a) he has given his employer an opting-in notice on or after the relevant date, and

- (b) after giving the notice, he has expressly agreed with his employer to do shop work on Sunday or on a particular Sunday.

(5) In this Part of this Law an "opting-in notice", in relation to a shop worker, means written notice, signed and dated by the shop worker, in which he expressly states that he wishes to work on Sunday or that he does not object to Sunday working.

(6) In this Part of this Law "the relevant date" means the date of commencement of the Employment Protection (Sunday Shop Working) (Guernsey) Law, 2001.]

NOTE

Part IIA, and section 15A thereof, were inserted by the Employment Protection (Sunday Shop Working) (Guernsey) Law, 2001, section 1, with effect from 1st July, 2002.

[Contractual requirements relating to Sunday work.]

15B. (1) Any contract of employment under which a shop worker who satisfies section 15A(2)(a) was employed on the day before the relevant date is unenforceable to the extent that it –

- (b) requires the employer to provide the shop worker with shop work on Sunday on or after that date.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), any agreement entered into after the relevant date between a protected shop worker and his employer is unenforceable to the extent that it – or

(b) requires the employer to provide the shop worker with shop work on Sunday.

(3) Where, after giving an opting-in notice, a protected shop worker expressly agrees with his employer to do shop work on Sunday or on a particular Sunday (and so ceases to be protected), his contract of employment shall be taken to be varied to the extent necessary to give effect to the terms of the agreement.

- (c) it is not apparent from the contract what part of the remuneration payable, or of any other benefit accruing, to the shop worker was intended to be attributable to shop work on Sunday.

(2) So long as the shop worker remains a protected shop worker, the contract shall be regarded as enabling the employer to reduce the amount of remuneration paid, or the extent of the other benefit provided, to the shop worker in respect of any period by the relevant proportion.

(3) In subsection (2) "the relevant proportion" means the proportion which the hours of shop work which (apart from this Part of this Law) the shop worker could have been required to do on Sunday in the period ("the contractual Sunday hours") bears to the aggregate of those hours and the hours of work actually done by the shop worker in the period.

(4) Subject to subsection (5), the prescribed form in the case of a shop worker is as follows –

"STATUTORY RIGHTS IN RELATION TO SUNDAY SHOP WORK

You have become employed as a shop worker and are or can be required under your contract of employment to do the Sunday work your contract provides for.

However, if you wish, you can give a notice, as described in the next paragraph, to your employer and you will then have the right not to work in or about a shop on any Sunday on which the shop is open once three months have passed from the date on which you gave the notice.

Your notice must – be in writing,

be signed and dated by you, say that you object to Sunday working.

For three months after you give the notice, your employer can still require you to do all the Sunday work your contract provides for.

After the three month period has ended, you have the right to complain to [the Employment and Discrimination Tribunal] if, because of your refusal to work on Sundays on which the shop is open, your employer –

dismisses you, or does something else detrimental to you, for example, failing to promote you.

Once you have the rights described, you can surrender them only by giving your employer a further notice, signed and dated by you, saying that you wish to work on Sunday or that you do not object to Sunday working and then agreeing with your employer to work on Sundays or on a particular Sunday."

(5) The States may by Ordinance amend the prescribed form set out in subsection (4).]
